

Lab 09 – Designing an IR Plan

In this lab you will create a short incident response plan. There are a lot of different pieces that will go into this puzzle. Capture as many of them as you can as concisely as you can. You can either use an organization that you currently work for or make one up and decide how your plan will best fit the needs of that organization.

NOTE: If you are currently working at a company please do not submit their response plans.

At a minimum your plan should include the following:

1. Describe the organization and its mission
2. State the goal of the incident response plan
3. Define the IR roles, who is involved?
4. Define the processes, how will those people work?
5. Reference the steps needed to complete the incident response
6. Describe the communication channels

If you believe that there should be another document, policy, procedure, etc. that your overall plan references you may do that. We have not yet covered many of the steps followed in incident response. Those steps should be referenced as other documents. We will come back and create some of those later.
